Red Bull Air Race World Championship 2010
Abu Dhabi qualification report and results

Japanese Pilot Yoshihide Muroya qualified eighth today at the Abu Dhabi round of the 2010 Red Bull Air Race World Championship.

His first qualifying round flight proved to be the better of the 2 flights when in the second round while pushing the times, he touched a pylon.

This was his second best qualifying round since starting as a Red Bull Air Racer. A positive result going into the final rounds tomorrow. Using a new engine, Muroya is pleased with the way the aircraft is performing and looking forward to the chance to improve his position in the Championship standing
